The Environmental Education program is planned and conducted by The University of Tennessee Extension. All participants are responsible for their conduct and must be willing to abide by the rules and behavioral guidelines established for the program. Students, teachers, and parents are asked to review and discuss these guidelines. Each must be willing to support these guidelines in order for the student to be eligible for the program.

Specific guidelines include:

1. Students will remain with their adult group leader and/or class instructor at all times. This includes breaks between classes.
2. Students will make every effort to be where they are supposed to be, on time and prepared to learn.
3. Because of the detrimental effect on wildlife, chewing gum is not allowed at the 4-H Center.
4. Use and/or possession of drugs, alcohol, tobacco, firearms, knives, firecrackers, matches, lighters, and other items deemed dangerous is strictly prohibited.
5. The safety of all students is contingent upon their willingness to participate fully and in a way consistent with instructions and rules. Failure to obey teachers, chaperons, or instructors may result in dismissal from the program.

I understand that the Environmental Education program is a class experience and that I (my child) will be required to participate fully and complete all assignments. I agree to abide by (support) the guidelines.
